

EIGHT CLUBS FOR VIRGINIA LEAGUE

Newport News and Portsmouth Come In if There Is to Be League.

MAGNATES HOLD ALL-DAY SESSION

Farrell Refused to Sanction Six-Club Organization Unless Newport News Was Included. Bradley Casts Vote Which Put Suffolk Out of Race.

Eight-Club Circuit

Richmond, Petersburg, Norfolk, Newport News, Portsmouth, Roanoke, Lynchburg and Danville will compose the Virginia League in 1912.

The Virginia League, for the season of 1912, if the Virginia League really does play baseball, will be composed of eight clubs. Newport News will be one of the cities of the circuit. But Suffolk will not. Portsmouth, represented by Charles T. Bland, won the fight over the cotton and peanut town, and will make the eighth link.

This action was taken after the magnates had argued and trifled over the new constitution for many hours, specifically from noon until 3 o'clock in the evening. Sporting magnates were not an unusual thing in the meeting, though, truthfully to relate this story, it must be stated that all of these fights were purely verbal. Nobody felt like having a real old-time scrap, so by straining the word it might be stated that the meeting was amicable.

Aside from doubting everybody else and looking for some raw deal to be pulled, the peace pact signed at Portsmouth has nothing on the meeting of the Virginia League magnates yesterday. The stand-patters, meaning Petersburg, Norfolk, Roanoke, and Lynchburg, were at first aware of increasing the circuit.

A telegram was sent to John H. Farrell, secretary of the National Board, asking whether he would ratify a unanimous action of the league in advocating a six club circuit. To this telegram an answer was received which said that no action taken by the meeting would be ratified. The action did not include Newport News as a member of the league.

Nothing Else to Do. After this last message had been received it was simply a question as to whether Suffolk and Portsmouth, Petersburg, was pledged to Suffolk. Therefore, it needed the vote of Richmond to admit Portsmouth. By admitting it was finally decided that W. B. Bradley should introduce the resolution making Portsmouth a part of the league, meaning, of course, that the vote of Richmond would be for Portsmouth. Thus the fight was ended.

Early in the day a message had been received from Farrell advising that Newport News was admitted to avoid further complications. This brought about the message from Mr. Seward to Mr. Farrell, the reply already having been quoted.

Peaceful, the meeting was not. Disturbance was evident that one did not have to be a member of the meeting to find it out. It developed that at the meeting held in Norfolk, when Newport News was supposedly voted out of the league, the Advisory Council W. H. Seward had obtained possession of the six copies of the constitution, provisional constitution—submitted for ratification. This caused the rough draft submitted yesterday to be particularly scrutinized, so that any objectionable clauses might be amended.

Holds for One Year. Although forced to bow to the will of Farrell, the six-club circuit magnates, who have been making a big thing out of the decision, decided that Portsmouth and Newport News into the league is to hold good for but one year, while the agreement between the original six clubs is for five years.

On the news of defeat was waited to the waiting Suffolk delegation the first real mean words of the session were passed. Gaining a hearing from the meeting, Judge Skeen, of Suffolk, denounced the action of the league. Mr. Bradley, of Suffolk, in very emphatic language, Mr. Bradley fumed, the other members of the league, of Suffolk, denounced the action of the league.

The final vote on the eight club circuit was taken. Portsmouth, Richmond, Lynchburg, Danville, Roanoke, and Suffolk, Petersburg and Norfolk.

To Form Alumni Association. For the purpose of making plans looking towards the organization of an alumni association, a meeting of all persons who have attended St. Patrick's Boys School will be held in McMillan Catholic Union Hall this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Notices have been sent out by George J. Byrne, temporary chairman, with the idea of reaching every former member of the school in order that they may be present this afternoon.

How Will It Be Permitted. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Chicago, Ill., February 24.—After personally assuring himself that everything in connection with the proposed wrestling match between Yusef Mahmoud and Jess Pedersen, is "on the level," Chief of Police McWeeny announced to-night that he would recommend the issuance of a permit for the bout by Mayor Harrison. The match will be held March 1.

Rich Signs With Lynchburg. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Lynchburg, Va., February 24.—James Barth, an infielder, said to be the fastest man and the hardest hitter last year in the Cleveland (Ohio) City League, has signed a Lynchburg contract upon the recommendation of Pitcher Eddie Burke. Last year, according to newspaper clippings sent by Barth, he hit at .360, and fielded at third base at .881 in thirty games. He played three games a week in the Industrial League of Cleveland, and Starks writes that he is certain to make the team.

ACADEMY LOSES TO HIGH SCHOOL

Lynchburg Wins From Randolph-Macon Quint by Score of 38 to 13.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Lynchburg, Va., February 24.—The Lynchburg High School basketball quint this afternoon easily defeated Randolph-Macon Academy, of Bedford City, the score being 38 to 13. The High School outclassed the Academy in every department excepting in guard work, and in this the locals excelled. The visitors were long on long shots for goals, getting two and missing more than twenty, to lose the ball each time.

The first half of twenty minutes was close, ending 15 to 10 in Lynchburg's favor, but in the last half of fifteen minutes the High School overwhelmed the Academy, scoring twenty points to three.
